GYMNOPE
In his

A true musician "grows in wisdom"
He is brilliant...
He learns to do without and is prepared to make enormous sacrifices
If I may say...
His energy is tremendous
In other words he is prepared for and with honesty he shall fight
The performance of an Art demands complete self-sacrifice
...It was not meant as a joke what I just said about sacrifices...
The Music makes heavy demands upon those who want to
This is what I have wanted you to call your attention to
A true musician must subordinate himself to his Art
...he must place himself above human suffering.
...he must draw courage from within
...and only from within."
